BREVARD COLLEGE

Brevard, NC

Volume 48

When we arrived at Brevard this year, each of us began a new life. Whether we were sophomores or freshmen we faced a lot of new experiences. Sophomores saw the appearance of a new point and fine system, resident tutors and teachers. There was a new group of leaders, the Resident Assistants (the student down the hall who kept telling you to turn your stereo down). Sophomores experienced a new feeling of importance and leadership. They grew in responsibility and maturity. Freshmen moved into their dorms with apprehension and slight cases of homesickness that soon gave way to a feeling of belonging.

The eighty-nine Day Students became a bigger part of campus life more so than in years before. All the students united on Derby Day to fight for the honor of their respective dorms and to meet new people. Many lasting friendships developed the first few weeks of school, and life became easier for everyone.

If you just happened to be up at one thirty or two in the morning some night, you probably saw a couple of lights around the finally silent dorms. Inside there was, inevitably, some poor, sleepy soul memorizing chemistry equations or doggedly writing a term paper due at eight o'clock the next morning. It was here at Brevard that we began to learn to accept responsibility and the importance of staying one step ahead of the next class assignment.

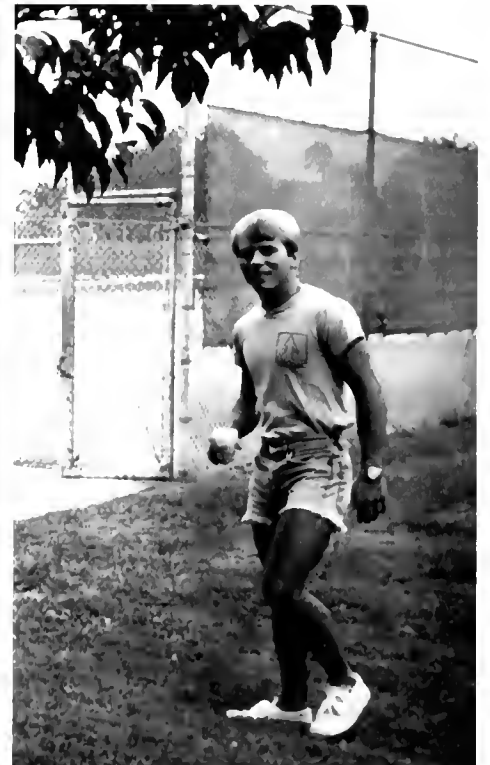

The Social Board provided many things for us to do with our friends. Every Thursday night we could all meet in the Student Union and be entertained by Keir Irmiter, Greg Greenway, or other talented people including fellow students.

At least one night every weekend we could enjoy a Greek night dance, Casino night, Toga party, or even a Halloween party. Three nights a week students could view such current films as "Every Which Way But Loose," "Capricorn One," and "The Song Remains the Same." The gathering places for friends were many; we met "on the wall," at the Storm Cellar, at Pizza Hut; and we discovered a new place to go in Brevard, Le Chat Allee.

Brevard provided many extracurricular activities for students looking for something other than study. The East Beam women got together twice a week to dance themselves into shape while others hiked to such places as Looking Glass Rock and Chimney Rock for exercise and enjoyment.

The Life and Culture Series this year provided a great many different forms of entertainment. One of the highlights of the series was Preston, The Magician. Students are not likely to forget Preston's amazing power over their friends through hypnosis. Another treat was the presentation of "Once Upon A Mattress" in the newly renovated Dunham Auditorium. Even Brevard's own faculty was represented when Artist-in-Residence, Anthony Sirianni, impressed everyone with his excellent performance.

Many groups on campus attracted students. In clubs or teams students became acquainted with others who had the same interests. We could join clubs reflecting our religious beliefs such as Kappa Chi, the Methodist Student Movement, and the Canterbury Club. We could also join academic or athletic clubs such as Phi Theta Kappa, the Swim Club or the Rugby Club. The Spanish Club and Circle K were among the cultural and service organizations on campus. Several new clubs were formed to widen the selection for students. These included a Young Republicans group, a campus firefighters group and students who gathered to play "dungeons and dragons" on Sunday nights.

Students served on various committees and publication staffs while others chose to participate in inter-collegiate athletics, music and drama.

Athletic students provided excitement for fans of soccer, volleyball, cross country, basketball, track, tennis and women's softball. Numerous students participated in intramurals. Music students took part in both concert and stage bands and in various vocal ensembles. Drama students were members of both drama classes and casts of campus-wide play productions.

Reasons for choosing Brevard were many, often including the beauty of the western North Carolina mountains. Students came from twenty-four states and nine foreign countries. They came from Florida, New York, Wisconsin, Georgia, and our own North and South Carolina.

An exchange of cultures took place among those students from the U.S. and the large number of people from other lands attending Brevard. We made friends with people from Greece, Holland, Japan, Venezuela and several other countries. Each of the students from every state and every country added a little piece of himself to the Brevard community.

The outside world appeared huge and menacing, but we felt safe in our own world surrounded by the fifty-year-old stone wall. With the assassinations and attempted assassinations of world leaders, a shuttle traveling to space and back, and other amazing happenings surrounding us, we still discovered our own small place in the universe here at Brevard.

Voyager

Eager for the darkness,
You stretch the sac of Earth
And rip her atmosphere.
Gantry-less, unbreathing,
Complete within your hull,
You leave your screams behind.
Trajectory computed
(Corrections self-controlled),
You carry golden codes
To greet the universe.

CAMPUS LIFE

Moving In And Registration Convey The Excitement Of A New Year

The Brevard School Year of 1981 and 1982 began on August 23 for Freshmen and August 25 for the returning Sophomores. The chaos of moving boxes, beds, and stereos lasted for hours, followed by time for becoming reacquainted with old friends and meeting new ones. R.A.'s, Mentors, and Big Sisters helped freshmen adjust to a new way of life. On August 26, everyone registered for classes. Amid throngs of students and faculty members, individuals spent confusing hours arranging class schedules to get just the right section of English. Even with all the hassle of moving in and registration, we survived to begin an exiting year at Brevard.

Green And E. Jones Win Derby Day Titles

On Derby Day, August 29, 1981, brightly colored T-shirt clad participants fought to defend the honor of their respective dorms. Sponsored by the Social Board, Derby Day featured such exciting events as a watermelon eating contest, Izzy Dizzy Relay, Musical Water Buckets, an egg toss and volleyball. The men's competition resulted in Green Dorm placing first, with West Beam, Ross Hall, and Taylor following. East Jones captured first place for the women with second going to West Jones and third to East Beam. A local band, Clear Creek, provided entertainment with a flair of country, blue grass, and rock and roll. An outdoor picnic by the pool resulted in many new friendships.

Michelle Smart Named Queen

Homecoming at Brevard, October tenth was filled with electric excitement. It was a time for celebrating and reuniting old friends. The day began with the Tornado soccer team's defeat of Spartanburg-Methodist College by a score of 3-0. During the game's halftime the Homecoming Court was introduced. The representatives were Sophomores Tawny Brown, Mimi Burton, Kim Burrell, Lori Knight, Mary Lineberger, Mary Gay Michaels, Sandy Nelson, and Michelle Smart. Freshmen, Billie Beard, Cecil Collier, Yancy Grayson, Meg Kwasnik, Lisa Miller, Andrea Nalley, Linda Stewart, and Cherie Tinsley. Everyone was anxious to find out who would be named Homecoming Queen at the dance. The live band Stratus was the featured entertainment. The basic rock and roll and the 60's extravaganza they performed earned many compliments from the students. At 10:00 p.m., the Homecoming Queen and Princess were announced. The new princess, Yancy Grayson was escorted by Peter Tresnan. Michelle Smart, escorted by Mike Bowman was crowned the 1981 Homecoming Queen.

Ghouls Present Themselves At Ross Hall

Saturday night, October 31, was a memorable night for most of the Brevard College students. Halloween night, 1981, was highlighted by a masquerade party and contest sponsored by Ross Hall. Carolyn Blount and Steve Piotter, who dressed as Tarzan and Jane, won the contest. Many students traveled to Hendersonville for their Halloween terror: a viewing of the film Halloween II. Whether students were out for tricks or treats, a bewitching time was had by all.

Students Welcome Parents To Campus

This year, the month of November was highlighted by Parents' Weekend and the grand reopening of Dunham Auditorium. This first weekend of the month proved to be a big success. Friday night, November 6th, the basketball team demonstrated that they were ready for action when they surged on to a victory over Asheville-Buncombe Technical College. The same evening, the Drama Department presented "Once Upon A Mattress" in the completely remodeled Dunham Auditorium. Under the direction of Mr. Sam Cope, the production premiered on Thursday night followed by performances on Friday and Saturday nights. Both students and their parents had the opportunity to enjoy the production. Saturday morning, parents were welcomed to meet President Martinson and Dean Wray and talk with the faculty and administrators while enjoying a Continental breakfast served in the cafeteria. During the lunch hour, the Brevard College Concert Band presented a variety of selections at a concert on the lawn. In the afternoon, the soccer and cross country teams enhanced the excitement of the weekend. The harriers ran their course well just before the soccer team defeated Spartanburg Methodist College in overtime. The women's basketball team also scrimmaged and won four of the four quarters played against Mars Hill College's varsity team. Many parents and students enjoyed the Big Band Concert presented by the Jazz Band on Saturday night. Dr. John Upchurch, band director, spotlighted many student performers while other students and their parents foxtrotted, waltzed, and even shagged. Students and parents ended this memorable reunion by attending the Sunday morning worship in the gym. Overall, the weekend was a complete success.

Fall Production Premieres In Remodeled Dunham.

The Drama Department's magnificent production, Once Upon A Mattress, was the opening production in the totally renovated Dunham Auditorium. With the stage fully lighted and arrayed in brightly colored props, the audience, as well as the cast, knew that the play could be nothing but a success. Mr. Sam Cope, Professor of Music and Theater Arts and Director of Brevard College's super theatrical productions, was pleased with the overall performance of this year's successful accomplishments. The hilarious musical was based on the fairy tale, "The Princess and The Pea." Talented thespians and musicians worked long hours with lighting and sound technicians and stage crews to impress their audience. The highlight of the play was the grand finale which featured the entire cast, the orchestra, and a fifteen-foot bed of mattresses.

Glimpses Of The Past And Future

The Life and Culture Series presented many interesting lecturers, musicians, and other entertaining productions. A new feature of the Series this year was the Wednesday morning presentations, which many students found very convenient. The Brevard Chamber Orchestra opened the year with a fine performance. Dr. Martinson officially began the school year with an inspiring, challenging personal word to the student body. Dr. John Mcketta, advisor on energy matters to President Reagan, spoke on the "Future of Mankind." In his speech, he predicted the effects of rapid developments on man. In October, "Preston, the Miracle-ist" returned to an enthusiastic crowd of almost 2,000 people. His act consisted of magic wands, disappearing milk, and white rabbits, but the real show-stopper of the evening was shown through his amazing hypnotic skills. This hypnosis brought cheers and laughter from the crowd and total submission from the participants as they were told to sing, hula, and give a hilarious "alphabet speech."

Other events included concerts by the Collegiate Singers, Oratorio Chorus, Chamber Choir, the Concert Band, and the Stage Band. The Life and Culture Series climaxed the first semester with a Christmas Concert and the annual lighting of the Christmas tree with President Martinson giving a thoughtful devotion.

Second Semester at Brevard brought many new and interesting performers to the Life and Culture Series. These performers included Mac Frampton and his musicians in an unusual type of piano concert. The Western Brass and the BC Concert Band provided two evenings of musical entertainment. Drama came to Brevard with the National Opera Company's presentation of Don Pasquale and the campus performance of Boeing, Boeing. The Second Semester Life and Culture Series was highlighted by Christian Encounter Week and Dr. Harold Warlick, Jr.'s speeches on "Finding Hope in a Fatalistic Age."

Attributes Of Working Students

The Work Study program offers students a chance to work without interfering with their study time. Many students pay for their educations through work study and others simply work to earn extra spending money. Those who are involved in work study are office assistants, secretaries, library assistants, and cafeteria and snack bar workers. There are many other jobs on campus but whatever the job, these students can earn money, learn responsibility, and still be devoted to their studies.

Students Highlight Coffeehouses

The regular Thursday night Coffeehouses, held in the Strom Cellar of the Student Union, were a pleasing intermission from the weekly grind of classes and study. Every student and teacher attending will find it hard to forget such favorites as Keir Irmiter, Crow Johnson, and Greg Greenway. Keir Irmiter impressed everyone with his rendition of the Beatles, Jackson Browne, and Billy Joel songs. Crow Johnson, who held a songwriting seminar, overcame the audience with her own inspiring songs. Greg Greenway entertained students and alumni alike during the Homecoming weekend. This year also brought several weeks of student entertainment in which talented students played and sang their favorite melodies or their own compositions. The informal, relaxed atmosphere of the Coffeehouses added to the audience's enjoyment.

Enthusiastic Dancers Make Weekends Exciting

Each weekend a dance brightened the routine of the B.C. student body. The Social Board and the student resident halls sponsored several types of dances such as a masquerade dance, a toga dance and many disco dances. The masquerade dance brought a multitude of students costumed in every imaginable manner. The winner of the best costume award was Scott Merusi, who dressed as Captain Beam. Another successful dance was the Toga Dance held in the Student Union. The enthusiasm displayed and the large numbers of students helped keep Brevard alive on weekends.

Shuffle-ing Into The Holiday Spirit

The 1981 Christmas season at Brevard was filled with Christmas trees, decorated doors, dorm parties, a candlelight service and even a party at President Martinson's house. The highlight of Christmastime at Brevard, though, was the Christmas dance featuring Shuffle. Students and faculty alike enjoyed the semi-formal evening in the colorfully decorated auxiliary gym. Shuffle provided a wide variety of music from hard rock and roll to country and western and beach music. Even though the dance competed with many other holiday events, it was definitely the hit of the evening.

Hearts And Flowers – BC Valentine

This year, the week of February 7-14 was filled with many exciting events. All week the Student Government sold carnations which were delivered on Saturday, the 13th. Red carnations were sent to sweethearts, pink to friends, and white to those we wanted to get to know better. Also, on Tuesday, everyone nominated their friends for the Valentine Court. On Friday, members of the court were announced. All day long on Saturday, Student Government members delivered carnations and Circle K members decorated the Auxiliary Gym with red, pink, and silver hearts and streamers. At 9:00 p.m., Saturday evening, semi-formally dressed BC students began to enter the gym for the culmination of the week's events. The candlelight and music set the mood for an exciting evening. The Robbin Banks Band provided hard-driving rock and roll, punk, Top-40, and music to slow dance to for those Valentine sweethearts. At 11:00 p.m., Bill Forehand, President of the Student Government Association, announced the 1982 Valentine Court. Ricky Pitts and Andrea Nalley were named the Prince and Princess and D. B. Setzer and Mimi Burton were named the King and Queen.

Greek Night Dorm Parties

This year each dorm on campus sponsored dances and parties for Greek Night. There was a masquerade dance held in Beam lobby, a dance and live band sponsored by Green held in the cafeteria, and a toga dance held at the student union. These weekend Greek Nights brought much relief and rest to those students who wanted to let their hair down and get away from the books and studying for an evening of enjoyment.

Up In The Air Comedy

This year's Spring Production, under the direction of Mr. Sam Cope, was Boeing, Boeing. The play, presented in the Barn Theatre second semester, was about a bachelor, Bernard, played by Kyle Genaway and his three stewardess girlfriends Judith, played by Robin Ashe, Janet, played by Pam Brittingham, and Jacqueline, played by Dee Smith. Bernard only sees each girl when the other two have an out-of-town flight and each girl knows nothing of the other two. The plot thickens with the entrances of Bernard's friend Robert, played by Len Brown and Bernard's underpaid maid, Bertha, played by Victoria Rives. A storm causes the six characters to be thrown together in a hilarious scene. In the end everything works out for Bernard and his friends and Bertha even gets a 25% raise. ORGANIZATIONS

SGA For You

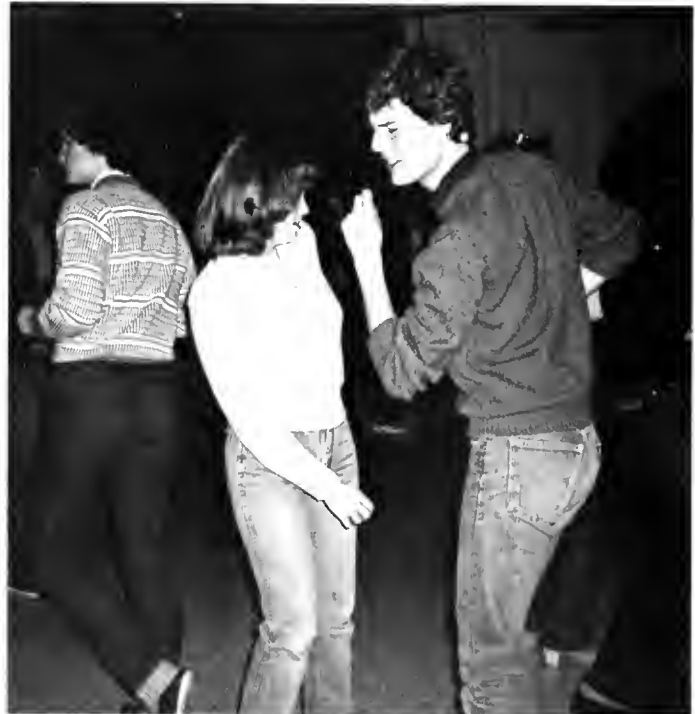

The Student Government Association of 1981-82 was committed to the betterment of student life. It sought to ensure that the students were justly and respectfully represented and to create mutual understanding between the student body and the college. The organization's projects included student service functions, adoption of club charters, public relations for the student body, and the organization of a campus radio station. S G A. officers were William Forehand, President; D. C. Taylor and John McMinn, Vice-Presidents of the Judicial Board; Allison Tanner, Vice-President of the Social Board; and Steve Lauria, Speaker of the Legislature.

Social Board Provides Entertainment

The Social Board planned non-academic activities for students to help relieve some of the academic pressure they were under. The Social Board planned and cleaned up after every activity from coffeehouses and dances to the Spring Festival and selling carnations for Valentine's Day. The group also organized the Social Board calendar for the fall semester of 1982. The Social Board met on Monday nights and was led by president Allison Tanner.

Community Affairs Board consists of a representative from each major academic division, publication, club, and organization on campus. This group discusses such community affairs as parietal regulations, library policies, a new radio station and broken washers and dryers. The committee is headed by Ms. Virginia Tillotson and includes campus officials Dean Wray and Dean Scarborough.

The Judicial Board is composed of the vice-presidents of the dorms and the Day Students Club. This committee was led by chairmen John McMinn and D. C. Taylor.

The J-Board was a type of appeals court for students who received points and fines for Uniform Guideline violations. As sponsor Sherry Bowers stated, "The purpose of this committee is to insure that students have received fair and unbiased disciplinary action."

The Student Ambassadors assisted the admissions office in acquainting prospective students and their parents with Brevard College. The Ambassadors also helped with the annual Scholarship Day competition and assisted the admissions office with large mass mailings. One Saturday a month the Student Ambassadors helped the admissions staff with Preview 82-Visitation Day. Uniting Campus And Community

The Day Students' Club brought together the day students and got them involved in the social activities of the college life. This club worked to make the day student feel more a part of the campus life. This year's Day Students' Club had their annual fall picnic in the forest and chose four girls from the club to be on the Homecoming Court. The club gave donations to the Sharing House in December, organized a garage sale in the spring, and concluded the year with a spring picnic. Leading this year's Day Students' Club were: Chuck Byrd — President, Lori Midyette — Vice President, Patti Brooks — Secretary-Treasurer, with returning advisor, Mr. Alderman.

The Resident Assistants, led by Dr. Sherry Bowers, met three days a week. The group provided friendship, peer counseling, educational, recreational, and social activities, and general assistance to the students of Brevard College. Lending A Helping Hand

Big Sisters, a group of helpful Sophomores in each dorm, aided incoming boarding and day Freshmen with moving in and becoming oriented during their first new days at Brevard. The Big Sisters helped to make the beginning of the freshman year a little easier to adjust to. They were always around to talk to or help in any way they could. This group was led by president Sarah McNeil and their sponsor this year was Charlotte Breed. The Big Sisters sponsored the Blood Mobile as their main service project.

Advice And Strong Arms

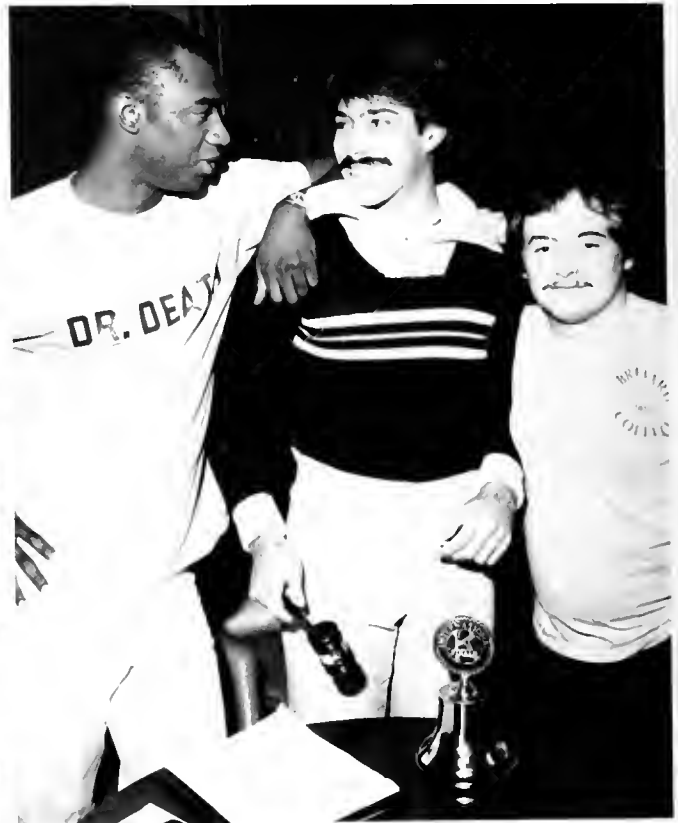

The Mentors, led by President Joe Austin and sponsored by Charlotte Breed, was a campus service organization which helped new students, male and female, adapt to college life. What would the freshman girls have done without the Mentors to help them move in? This year, the Mentors have tried to be more visible and available to all students for advice or to just be a friend. Their efforts made life on the B.C. campus enjoyable and they should be commended for a job well done.

Encouraging Community Involvement

Circle K, a service organization, was, during the past year, one of the most active clubs on campus. This energetic group sponsored a car wash, helped with the Valentine Dance, directed traffic for the Christmas Parade, and started an Adopt-A-Grandparent program. Through its numerous activities, Circle K provided leadership training and encouraged involvement in the community. An Evening With Faulkner

The Delta Pi Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa worked throughout the year sponsoring teacher and staff appreciation days in the fall and giving parties for the maintenance crew and the foreign students. Delta Pi also held a tea for President Martinson, sponsored a program featuring James Faulkner, the nephew of William Faulkner, and a short story contest. The club had several film and discussion sessions. According to the national constitution, "The purpose of Phi Theta Kappa is the promotion of scholarship, the development of leadership and service, and the cultivation of fellowship among students of community and junior colleges in the United States." Kappa Chi, a Christian service organization was very active this past year. Kappa Chi decorated the cafeteria for Thanksgiving dinner, planned the program for the lighting of the Christmas tree, and went caroling in the community. Members sponsored Christian Encounter Week and had an Easter Sunrise service on top of the parkway. The main purpose of Kappa Chi was to help its members expose their true selves to others and to God.

Something For Every Belief

Baptist Students met twice a month for a time of Christian fellowship. BSU members conducted devotions, sang songs, and talked about problems they were facing. The Baptist Students visited the Bryan Center before Christmas and entertained the people with songs and scripture. BSU members also collected food to give to the Sharing House. The Baptist Students had parties before the various holidays throughout the year, and before exams they studied how the Bible could help them face the pressure of taking exams.

The Methodist Student Movement had a devotional meeting of scripture study and songs. This past year, MSM sponsored an Adopt-A-Grandparent program and started a babysitting service. Once a month, the Methodist students had a communion service in the First United Methodist Church. In November, the Methodist students along with the Baptist students sponsored an informal party for all of the foreign students.

Varied Athletic Participation

The Swimming Club participated in several swim-a-thons this past year. Many of Brevard College's excellent swimmers joined the club. The women were strongest in distance events while the men performed best in relay competition. In November, the team participated in a swim-a-thon held at Brevard. Mr. Belton Hammond sponsored the club.

The Outing and Hiking Club brought together those students interested and experienced in various outdoor activities. The club went on hiking, rafting, and camping trips during the year. The club members also attended several equipment and skill workshops. The club met on Thursday evenings and was led by David Phillips and Sponsor Steve Wilson.

Old & New – Diversity In Campus Clubs

The Tornado Club, Brevard College's pep club, supported the basketball teams this year by attending the games and promoting school spirit. The club added the extra bit of enthusiasm that was needed to give BC athletes the determination to overcome moments of pressure. The Tornado club was led by president D. C. Taylor, vice-president Joel Neilson, secretary Cecil Collier, treasurer Michelle Smart, and sponsor Mr. Jimmy Alderman.

The College Republicans Club gave students an opportunity to take an active role in government and to achieve a better understanding of the governmental process. Club members attended conferences given by political science and economic instructors, went to the state conventions of the North Carolina Federation of College Republicans, and became involved in the state and national political process. The College Republicans were led by David Jenkins, Rusty Russell, and sponsor, Peter Burger. The College Republicans was one of the many new clubs on the Brevard campus this year.

Singers Perform

The Collegiate Singers, under the direction of Mr. Lee Bratton, brought students and the appreciation of choral art together.

During the course of the year, several concerts and performances were given including the Spring Tour to various churches and high schools. The Collegiate Singers gave students the chance to enrich their lives through the performance of fine choral music. The Choir Board represented the members of both the Collegiate Singers and the Chamber Choir. The six board members were chosen by their fellow choir members. The board established policies of rehearsal, performance, and attendance, and was responsible for upholding these policies. The board also planned many of the social activities for the choirs and was the bond uniting the faculty and the choir members.

Band Entertains BC Students

The Concert Band, under the direction of Dr. Joe Barry Mullins and Dr. John Upchurch, consisted of instrumentalists who liked to play original band music and transcriptions of music from other media. Several concerts were given during the course of the year including the major fall and spring concerts. The Concert Band not only provided the community with performing and musical enjoyment, but also gave the members of the band live concert experience.

Thespians Gain Dramatic Insight

The drama group on campus worked very hard this year to bring entertainment to the BC community. The thespians, under the excellent supervision of Mr. Sam Cope, learned to build sets, utilize lighting and sound techniques and direct other students in productions. Acting experience was also a vital part of the drama program. Students performed in both a major fall and spring production and in short skits.

Reporting Campus Activities

The Clarion staff worked hard this past year to provide students and faculty with an interesting newspaper. The staff, under the leadership of Editor, Melanie Mullins, Assistant Editor, Jon Zillioux, and News Editor, Lane Yates, reported on campus activities and kept the students and faculty informed of upcoming events. The staff is guided by Mr. Ken Chamlee. On Mondays, the staff received their assignments; on Thursdays they proofread the copy; and on Fridays they layed out the paper at the Transylvania Times. Long Hours, Hard Work, Many Memories

The 1982 Petelote staff, advised by Mrs. Priscilla Chamlee, worked very hard to put together this year's annual. The staff consisted of several sections including editing, business, organizations, athletics, classes, faculty, and campus life. Many tasks were involved in putting together the yearbook. The photography, typing, and layout staffs helped to make things run a little smoother.

Even after spending 21 consecutive hours during the weekend in the journalism room, the staff remained dedicated and saw the book through to the end. The finished product made all the hard work and long hours worthwhile.

Harriers Stride Toward Victory...

Brevard's Cross Country Team, surprised everyone by finishing second to Southwestern Michigan in the national meet.

Brevard finished third in the Great Road Relay beating such established clubs as the Greenville and Atlanta Track Clubs. The Tornados also defeated Georgia Tech's varsity team and the University of Tennessee's junior varsity. This home meet marked the thirty-ninth consecutive dual meet victory for Brevard in the past five years. In the NJCAA National Championships, Brad Albee, one of the five runners representing Brevard at Nationals, led the road runners with an eighteenth place finish. Brad was followed by Gerald Hutchinson in twentieth position. Randy Ward, one of only three runners at the meet to repeat as All-American, finished in twenty-first position. All three earned All-American honors by finishing in the top twenty-five. Jim Hickey and Jeff Muth finished in thirty-fourth and forty-second positions. Rogers Named New Tornado Coach

The 1981-82 Tornados faced not only a tough schedule but a rebuilding year as well. Only two players returned to aid first-year coach Doug Rogers as he tried to improve the team and last year's record. Inexperience and lack of size were the major problems the Tornados faced, but these were often overcome by hustle on the part of the whole team. The season was one of heartbreak and victory. Brevard won several overtime and close games and lost several others. Victories came against Hiwassee, Walters State, and Spartanburg-Methodist among others. Team spirit and morale were high as the Tornados played sound and exciting basketball throughout the season.

Women Face Nationally Ranked Teams

The 1981-82 Lady Tornado basketball team was a much improved squad. Although the record did not reflect the overall improvement, the Lady Tornados played stronger and better overall ball. Last year's winning group of sophomores was joined by a number of talented freshmen who added the impetus for an improved team. This year's Lady Tornado schedule included nationally ranked junior colleges such as Louisburg and Truett-McConnell and five senior colleges. The Lady Tornados were down by only one point at halftime to defending National Champions Louisburg. They eventually lost but the squad showed its spirit, determination and class during the contest. Three of the five senior colleges lost to the Brevard by an average margin of twenty points. The toughest competition for the Lady Tornados came from their own Region X NJCAA. Anderson, Spartanburg-Methodist and North Greenville all boasted strong teams and one of the biggest wins of the season for the Lady Tornados came against arch-rival Anderson

This season's schedule included six meets, three at the University of Tennessee and three at Virginia Tech. This season's captains were John Delaney and Randy Ward. The outdoor schedule consisted of ten large invitational meets against mainly four-year colleges. Julius Korir, from Kenya, ran everything from the 800 meter to the 3000 meter steeplechase. The hopes for a successful season rested on the jumpers and All-American distance crew of Brad Albee, Randy Ward, and Gerald Hutchinson.

Talent And Hard Work Aid Tennis Teams

The 1982 Men's Tennis Team consisted of twelve talented players. Mark Warnock and Lee Evans, two returning sophomores, vied for first ranking. A freshman, Johnny Dowdle, rounded out the top three positions. The Men's Tennis Team competed against such teams as Newberry College, Montreat-Anderson, and North Greenville. The 1982 Women's Tennis Team, led by Coach Sally Walker, looked very promising. The girls were hard working and enthusiastic. They began practicing in February despite the rain. The team faced stiff competition from mostly four year schools. Coach Walker and the women worked on building a strong tradition in women's tennis at Brevard. The team competed in Carolina's Tennis Day and as led by number one player Shariyn Hamilton and returning sophomore Loretta Edwards.

Cheerleaders Initiate

The 1981-82 Cheerleading Squad, one of the best in recent years, started the soccer season with a contagious spirit of enthusiasm that continued to spread through the basketball season. Led by outstanding captain, Judy McCrary, and assisted by co-captains, Sarah Cooper and Chris Thompson, the twenty member squad developed their repertoire to entail difficult pyramids, numerous partner stunts, and precision squad cheers. Two-hour practice sessions four times a week, cheering at three to four games a week, making posters and banners for the campus, and special projects including representing the college in the town Christmas parade are only a few of the activities the cheerleaders participated in. The Cheerleading Squad had the longest season of any of the participating athletes on campus.

Bottom Sequence One of the favorite cheers this season was "Knock em Down Down Down".

Women's Softball Swings Into Action

This year's softball team began their practice season in February and began playing at the end of March.

Coach Lee Bratton's squad was made up equally of returning and new players. The girls were very talented and played well against four other very competitive colleges. Hiwassee, Tusculum, Louisburg, and Warren-Wilson. Mr. Bratton considered the women's softball team as a club sport, putting enjoyment above the win-loss record.

The team had a great deal of backing and acquired new uniforms.

The field was revitalized this year with additions of a water fountain, fence, and benches. The team carried approximately fifteen players.

DORM LIFE

Dorms – A Place For Study,

The five dorms, E. and W. Beam, Green, Jones, Ross Hall, and Taylor, provided a place for boarding students to meet and get to know other freshmen and sophomores within a family-like environment. Students living in the dorms became closer through such activities as Derby Day, intramurals, and dorm parties. The dorms were overseen by Resident Tutors who planned extra activities for residents as well as serving as friends, counselors and mediators.

Sports Attract Dorms, Day Students, Faculty

Intramurals were sports events held between the dorms, day students, and faculty. Intramurals accentuated competitiveness on the Brevard campus. These events consisted of such sports as volleyball, football, basketball, tennis, and softball. Although the women of Jones did not compete actively this year, the games were formed to encompass both men and women. During the basketball season, faculty members formed a team and joined the competitive fun.

Tutors Perform Unusual Tasks

Resident Tutors are those individuals that boarding students tried to avoid on Friday and Saturday nights. Resident Tutors took on the large responsibility of being a parent-figure to dorm residents. Not only were the tutors the dorm authority, they were friends also. The Resident Tutors were almost always around to help with individual personal needs and to solve problems within the dorm. Besides their dorm duties, most of the tutors were teachers, coaches, or held other campus positions. The Resident Tutors were also full of surprises and could be found involved in any number of unusual activities.

COLLEGE COMMUNITY

BC PERSONNEL

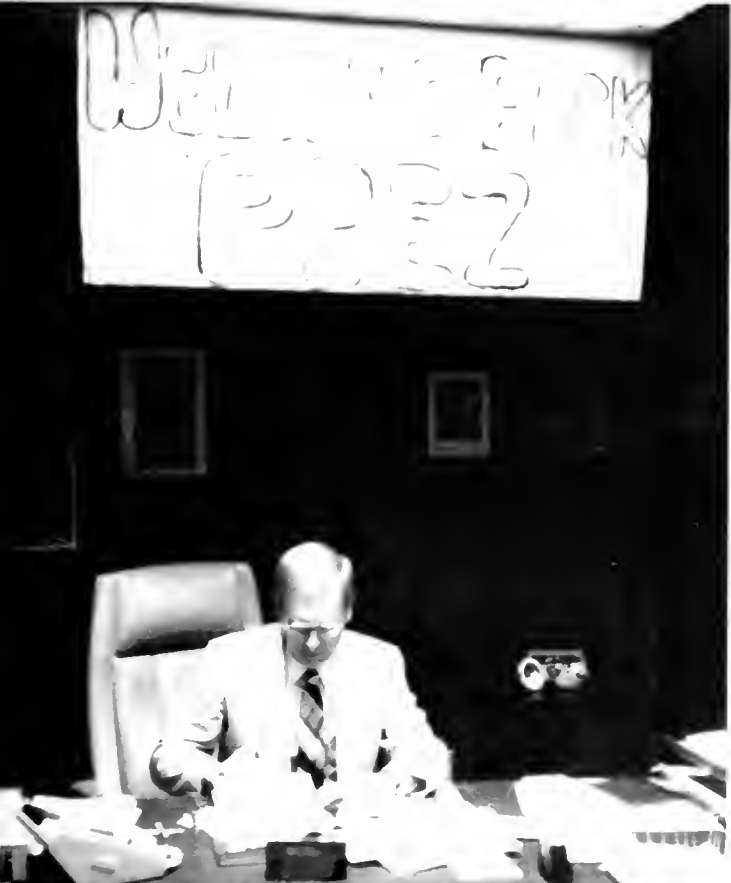

President Attends Harvard Workshop

President Jacob C. Martinson was selected this past summer to attend a special management seminar for administrators at Harvard's Graduate School of Business. Dr. Martinson's attendance is another example of his ongoing concern for the administration of Brevard College. This concern is exemplified in everyday situations involving the staff, faculty, and students. President Martinson's door is always open to anyone.

Dean Wray Campus Catalyst

Dr. Morris Wray, Dean of the College, is a very busy man. Not only is Dean Wray involved in maintaining the academic standards of the College, but he also teaches philosophy and helps students plan their college transfer. Dean Wray shows concern for the students and tries to help them in any way possible. Dean Wray's office and home alike are open to students. He works with student-faculty committees to make life on campus more enjoyable. Since Dean Wray came to Brevard in 1977, he has accomplished a great deal that directly benefits the students. Dean Wray was among those responsible for the installation of the Open Dorm policy at Brevard as well as many other student policies now in effect.

Dedicated, Behind-The-Scenes Professionals

Operating a college requires many hours of determination and hard work by large numbers of dedicated behind-the-scenes professionals. Dr. Jacob Martinson, Brevard President, heads the list of concerned and accessible administrators. Dean of the College, Morris Wray, and Dean of Student Affairs, Don Scarborough, exhibit this same caring and availability. Students often fail to realize the importance of the offices they do not come in contact with daily. Edwin K. Cunningham not only serves as the Administrative Assistant to Dr. Martinson, but he also computes the grants and aid money available for students. Mr. Bob Hayes, Director of Financial Affairs, and his competent staff are all willing to help students understand any questions they may have concerning college costs. Mr. Frank Davis, Executive Director for Development, spends many hours raising funds and is the official spokesman for the college. His office and staff are responsible for Alumni Relations and Public Information. The Admissions staff, under the innovative leadership of Dean of Admissions Robert McLendon, is constantly working to increase the enrollment with the highest quality students. Mrs. Brona Roy, the Registrar, among many other duties, organizes classes, computes grades, and sends out accurate transcripts. Larry Bessette, Director of Physical Operations, and his capable staff keep buildings in good repair and complete other tasks that make Brevard a pleasant place to be. Brian Chiulli, Director of Food Services, has a large chore to complete. He and his staff must feed 750 people, three times a day, seven days a week. Ms. Mary Margaret Houk, the Director of Learning Resources, and the other librarians help students find needed information for classes. Mr. Alderman, better known as Mr. A, who manages the Student Union, and his assistant provide mail service and operate the bookstore for student use. Secretaries seen in each building on campus provide much needed help for faculty and administrative personnel alike. All of these people work hard to make Brevard a better place for everyone.

Within the last year the entire universe was explored during the second run of the space shuttle Columbia. There are hopes that, through this, man may one day live in space. Many happenings around the world directly affected our lives. Religious people everywhere felt their rights being infringed upon with the assassination attempt made upon Pope John Paul II. Fear for freedom rippled across the world as major leader, Anwar Sadat died at the hands of an assassin. Pride in our own country and thankfulness for our liberty tugged at us with the deaths of the ten IRA hunger-strikers, the kidnapping of Brigadier General James Dozier by the Red Brigade, and the institution of martial law in Poland. One bright spot shown round the world was the fairy-tale wedding of Prince Charles of England and his princess, Lady Diana Spencer. In our own country hundreds lost their jobs as a result of the Air Traffic Controller Strike. Gas prices lowered a little bit, but other prices soared along with interest rates. The country experienced one of its coldest winters in many years. The South and Brevard College students revelled in the outstanding performances of nearby Clemson University in football and the University of North Carolina in basketball. President Reagan's budget cuts began to affect Brevard students through financial aid. Through all of this outside chaos the students at Brevard learned, shared, grew, and ultimately joined together within the College Community as one.
